

Architecture and Interior – Level 3 Diploma

Interview Requirements

Examples of Creative Work:

In order for us to effectively assess your suitability and current skill level in relation to your application for the Architecture and Interior level 3 design programme it is important that you are able to bring some evidence of your interest in design to your interview...

This evidence may take the form of a portfolio that demonstrates and communicates your current skill, ability and understanding of art and design and includes examples of a variety of creative work.

The portfolio should include some or all of the following:

- Sketchbooks/Project Logs – demonstrating your ability to use the design process (research, ideas, development and final outcome) to develop a creative art or design project
- Photographs of any 3D design work – models, prototypes, sculpture, etc.
- Material samples or experiments
- Studies relating to your current GCSE projects, including research undertaken into any relevant art or design industry
- Evidence of work experience

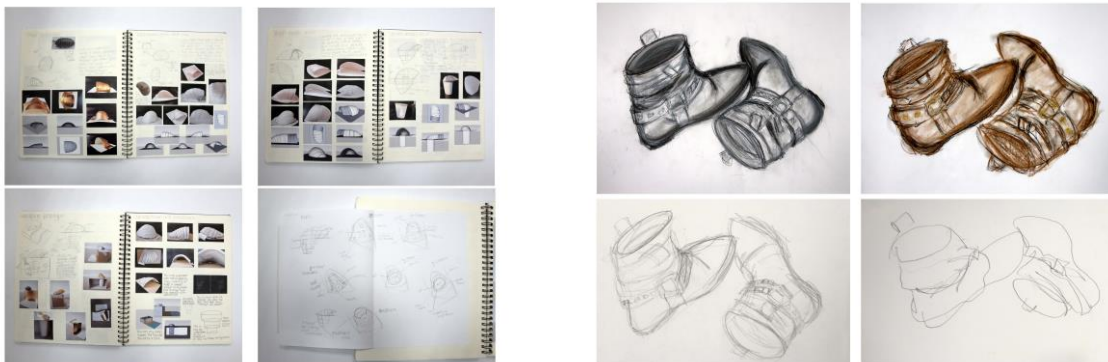

We understand that you may be unable to bring final GCSE work with you as this may be needed for assessment by your school. In this instance you should endeavour to take photographs of the work retained by your school/college and bring these along in some relevant format (digital or printed).

It is important to consider the work you will bring with you. We simply wish to see your current level of skill and ability, enabling us to make a more informed decision regarding your suitability for the course.

Work does not have to be design specific. You can bring work from a range of different creative disciplines; art, design technology, textiles, product design, graphics, etc.

If possible you should attempt to demonstrate to us your current skill and abilities in both 2D (drawing, graphics, CAD, etc) and 3D (modelling, prototyping, material samples and experiments). This can include work from both educational projects and self-initiated projects (e.g. work done in your own time at home).

It is not necessary to bring 3D work with you; images of these works will be fine.

Finally, we look forward to seeing you at your interview!

Please do not hesitate to contact our admissions team if you have any further questions.
