How do I log in?

The easy way to start using EBSCO Discovery is to log into CCGOnline and then click on Learning Resources. The EBSCO Discovery search box is located to the right of the screen.

How do I search?

To start searching you can opt for a basic or advanced search.

Basic Search
Type in your topic e.g. genetic engineering into the search box and click 'Search'. To narrow down the results you can filter by keyword, title, or author using the keyword dropdown option.

Advanced Search
Click on Advanced Search. Enter your search term then click Select a field to choose author etc from the drop down menus. Use AND, OR, NOT to combine terms.

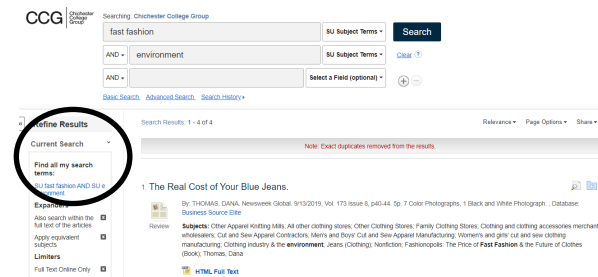

How will the results appear?
Results are displayed in relevance order (change to by date if preferred). A Discovery search will also include e-books and all the library books held by CCG.
Too many results?
If you have too many results try limiting your search using Refine results options, for example by date, source type or subject. This is found to the left of the screen.
Click on a title to see the full record.

How do I use the results?

On the detailed record page use the Tools menu on the right of the screen to save, email, print and obtain bibliographic details for referencing.
If you want to save your results, create a Sign In using the menu at the top of the page and you will be able to add items to your own folder which will be saved after you have logged out.

Click on the pdf icon to open the full text of the article to read, save or print; html links also have an option to listen to the article.

Referencing
Click on cite in the tools menu and choose from the referencing formats shown.

What if I still need help?

Click Help at the top right of the page or book a demonstration from a member of library staff.
