

Volunteer for our new Coproduction Communications Panel

- Interested in communications?
- Lived mental health experience?
- Are you based in West Sussex?

We're recruiting volunteers to our Communications Coproduction Panel. If you have lived experience of mental health and you are interested in communications, why not apply?

We encourage participation from all communities, especially those who feel underrepresented to take part in our monthly panel group.

This is a fantastic opportunity to put forward ideas around social media, website content and printed communications in order to improve accessibility and inclusivity.
